

HEARTS AND ARROWS

Less than one percent of all diamonds being manufactured today can be considered a true Hearts and Arrows diamond.

The Hearts & Arrows pattern is found in a super ideal cut diamond. It is important to know that one would pay a higher price for eight star or Hearts and Arrows diamonds than ideal cut diamonds which do not display the pattern.

This is because extra time was devoted to a special cutting process that ensures the integrity of the Hearts and Arrows pattern. The effect is achieved by cutting, aligning, and positioning, all of a diamonds 58 facets to perfection. The pattern can only be seen using the Fire scope or Di-Star scope.

A true hearts and arrows diamond requires almost twice the amount of time to cut and polish as compared with a commercial quality round brilliant diamond.
